LISGAR COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE
EXAMINATION INSTRUCTIONS FOR STUDENTS

1. It is the student's responsibility to know his or her personal examination timetable and to see that he or she is present for each examination he or she is required to write. All examinations must be written at the times which are indicated on the examination schedule. Subject teachers will inform students of the rooms where they will write their examinations.
2. Final evaluations are compulsory for all students. Refer to the OCDSB Secondary Educator's Resource Guide for Assessment, Evaluation and Reporting of Student Achievement. The only legitimate reasons for missing an examination are a family emergency or student illness. In these circumstances, a parent or the student (if an adult) must call the school in advance of the examination. (239-2696) In addition, students who miss examinations because of illness must provide the school with a medical certificate by Wednesday June 23rd, 2010. Students who have no legitimate reason for missing an examination will receive a mark of zero for the examination. If families have special requests because of emergency travel requirements, parents should write directly to Mr. David McMahon, Principal of Lisgar C.I.
3. All conflicting examinations must be reported by the student to Mr. Goebel immediately. Conflicts will be written in Room 355 or Room 356. Students who have two examinations which conflict during the morning will start writing at 8:50am. Students who have two examinations which conflict during the afternoon will start writing at 9:50am. Students writing an afternoon examination may not leave the conflict/extended time room before 1:30pm. Students with conflicts are not permitted to leave the conflict/extended time room between examinations. If examinations are written over the lunch hour, students will be required to eat lunch in the conflict/extended time room; therefore, students should bring their lunches with them ahead of time. Students may only leave the conflict room with specific permission of the Conflict Room Supervisor and must remain under supervision. Students with conflicting examinations may take a short 30 minute supervised break between examinations. Students with conflicts may select the order of the conflicted exams; however, they may not switch morning and afternoon time slots. Students in the conflict/extended time room are responsible for making sure they are writing the appropriate examination paper.
4. Length of exams: All grade 9 and 10 exams are set to allow completion for the majority of students in 1.5 hours, except the board-wide mathematics exam which is 2 hours. Grade 11 and 12 exams are set for 2 hours, except the board-wide English exam which is 3 hours. This exam schedule acknowledges individual differences and that high stakes summative assessments need to be flexible. An equivalent amount of flex time is available for Lisgar students and therefore time and a half will be provided to complete exams for all students; however, the exceptions to the extra time policy at Lisgar are the board-wide examinations which are governed by Board policy.
5. Exam Start Times: Please note the change in exam start times. Morning exams start at 08:50am and afternoon exams start at 12:15PM. Students must remain in the examination room for the first hour of their scheduled exam.
6. Students not writing an examination may study at home. Those who choose to come to school are to study quietly in the library or cafeteria. Sections of the school in which examinations are being written will be out of bounds. Quiet access to lockers is permitted at the end of the examination.
7. Students who require the use of computers or scribes will be notified by Ms. Sintic or Ms. Adams. These students will write their exams in Room 354 or 355 or 356.
8. Should exams be postponed because of inclement weather, heating/cooling system or electrical breakdown, etc., the "bump and slide" principle will apply; each day's examinations will be written one day later than originally scheduled. Should this occur, students are expected to be available to write all of their examinations.
9. Students who arrive late for an examination will be admitted only during the first hour of the exam with no provision for extra time. If a student is more than one hour late for an exam, he/she must report to the office.
10. Within the examination room, it is the student's responsibility to (a) follow directions given by the teacher(s) in charge (b) bring the required materials (i.e. pen, pencil, ruler, subject-approved calculator, etc) and any other items specifically permitted by the examination (c) check that all parts of the examination have been received (d) turn in the examination with his or her name on all sheets (e) raise his or her hand if assistance is required (f) refrain from communicating with other students in any way (g) not have in his or her possession any unauthorized materials which appear to be for the purpose of getting or giving assistance to oneself or another student(h) leave all textbooks, notes, binders, and pencil cases in your lockers; please do not bring them to the examination room (i) check calculators to ensure there are no extraneous items programmed that may be construed as "crib notes." Students must ensure that they do not take any cell phones or coats or knapsacks into examination rooms. Any supervising teacher who finds a student with a cell phone in an examination room will confiscate the phone for the duration of the examination; at the end of the examination, the supervisor will turn over the cell phone to an administrator.
